

Ibram X. Kendi, in his book “How to Be an Antiracist” states, “The only remedy to racist discrimination is antiracist discrimination. The only remedy to past discrimination is present discrimination. The only remedy to present discrimination is future discrimination.”

The critics of critical race theory argue that a racist is one who treats people differently based on the color of their skin rather than the content of their character. CRT says the only way to exorcise America’s systemic racism is to make non-people of color to realize that they are racists because of their skin color, regardless of their character or heart.

The Danger is Seen in how this Tactic Has Been Used in the Past

China’s Red Guards began by launching an attack on the “Four Olds”—old customs, culture, habits and ideas. Symbols of old China were destroyed. China’s wokeness sessions about the evils of capitalism were called “struggle sessions.” In China it was proletariat versus bourgeois and communist versus capitalist, while in America it is social-injustice victim versus white-privilege beneficiary, antifascist and democratic-socialist versus capitalist and college-educated progressive versus deplorable.

Step one for redemption is: “Hi, I admit that I am powerless over racism and I make the lives of my victims unmanageable.” A coerced or brainwashed confession is not necessarily good for the soul (or, for that matter, racial harmony), but it might be good for one’s career.
