What is my Project?

My project is on the life of Fredrick Douglass. The barbwire around the hand's symbols the pain that he went through. And the butterfly represents freedom. And the coloration of the butterfly represents the beauty of it while the hands don't have color because slavery and his hardships were so dark in his life.

What global context does my project relate to and what two approaches to learning did I use?

- The global context my project relates to is personal & cultural expression because Fredrick Douglass used a lot of cultural expression in his books. He also talked about his personal experience. While writing his books we can see the creativity he used to explain some of the things that happened to him. And how when he was escaping slavery the creative ways, he thought about to get out of it.
- The two approaches to learning I used was Creative thinking and Time management. I used creative thinking to identify what symbolization I wanted to be expressed in my project and what would best represent it. And I used Time manegment to make sure I had enough time to think about what I want to draw, how I want to incorporate my theme and then draw the picture.

Reflection

- I don't think I would change anything in my project, I'm very proud of it and its by far the best art that I have done. My outcome was aligned with my expectation and more because I was not aware that my art skills could achieve something like that. I learned that my time management is good, and I am very creative and that I'm good at art.
